

Learn the three stages which proceed and development.

Land Development: Site Planning & Zoning

Instructor: Chuck Miller GMB CGB CGR CAPS
MIRM CMP MCSP CSP

Three stages must precede any development: site planning, government approval and site improvements. Get the essential overview of these critical processes, plus a detailed description of each individual step. This course is designed for the newcomer to land development.

As a graduate of this course, you will be able to:

- Explain the major tasks of land development and the site planning process.
- Determine the responsibilities of a land developer and important considerations for becoming a successful developer
- Adhere to the government approval process and establish techniques for winning support for your new development.
- Implement the steps and considerations involved in site improvements.
